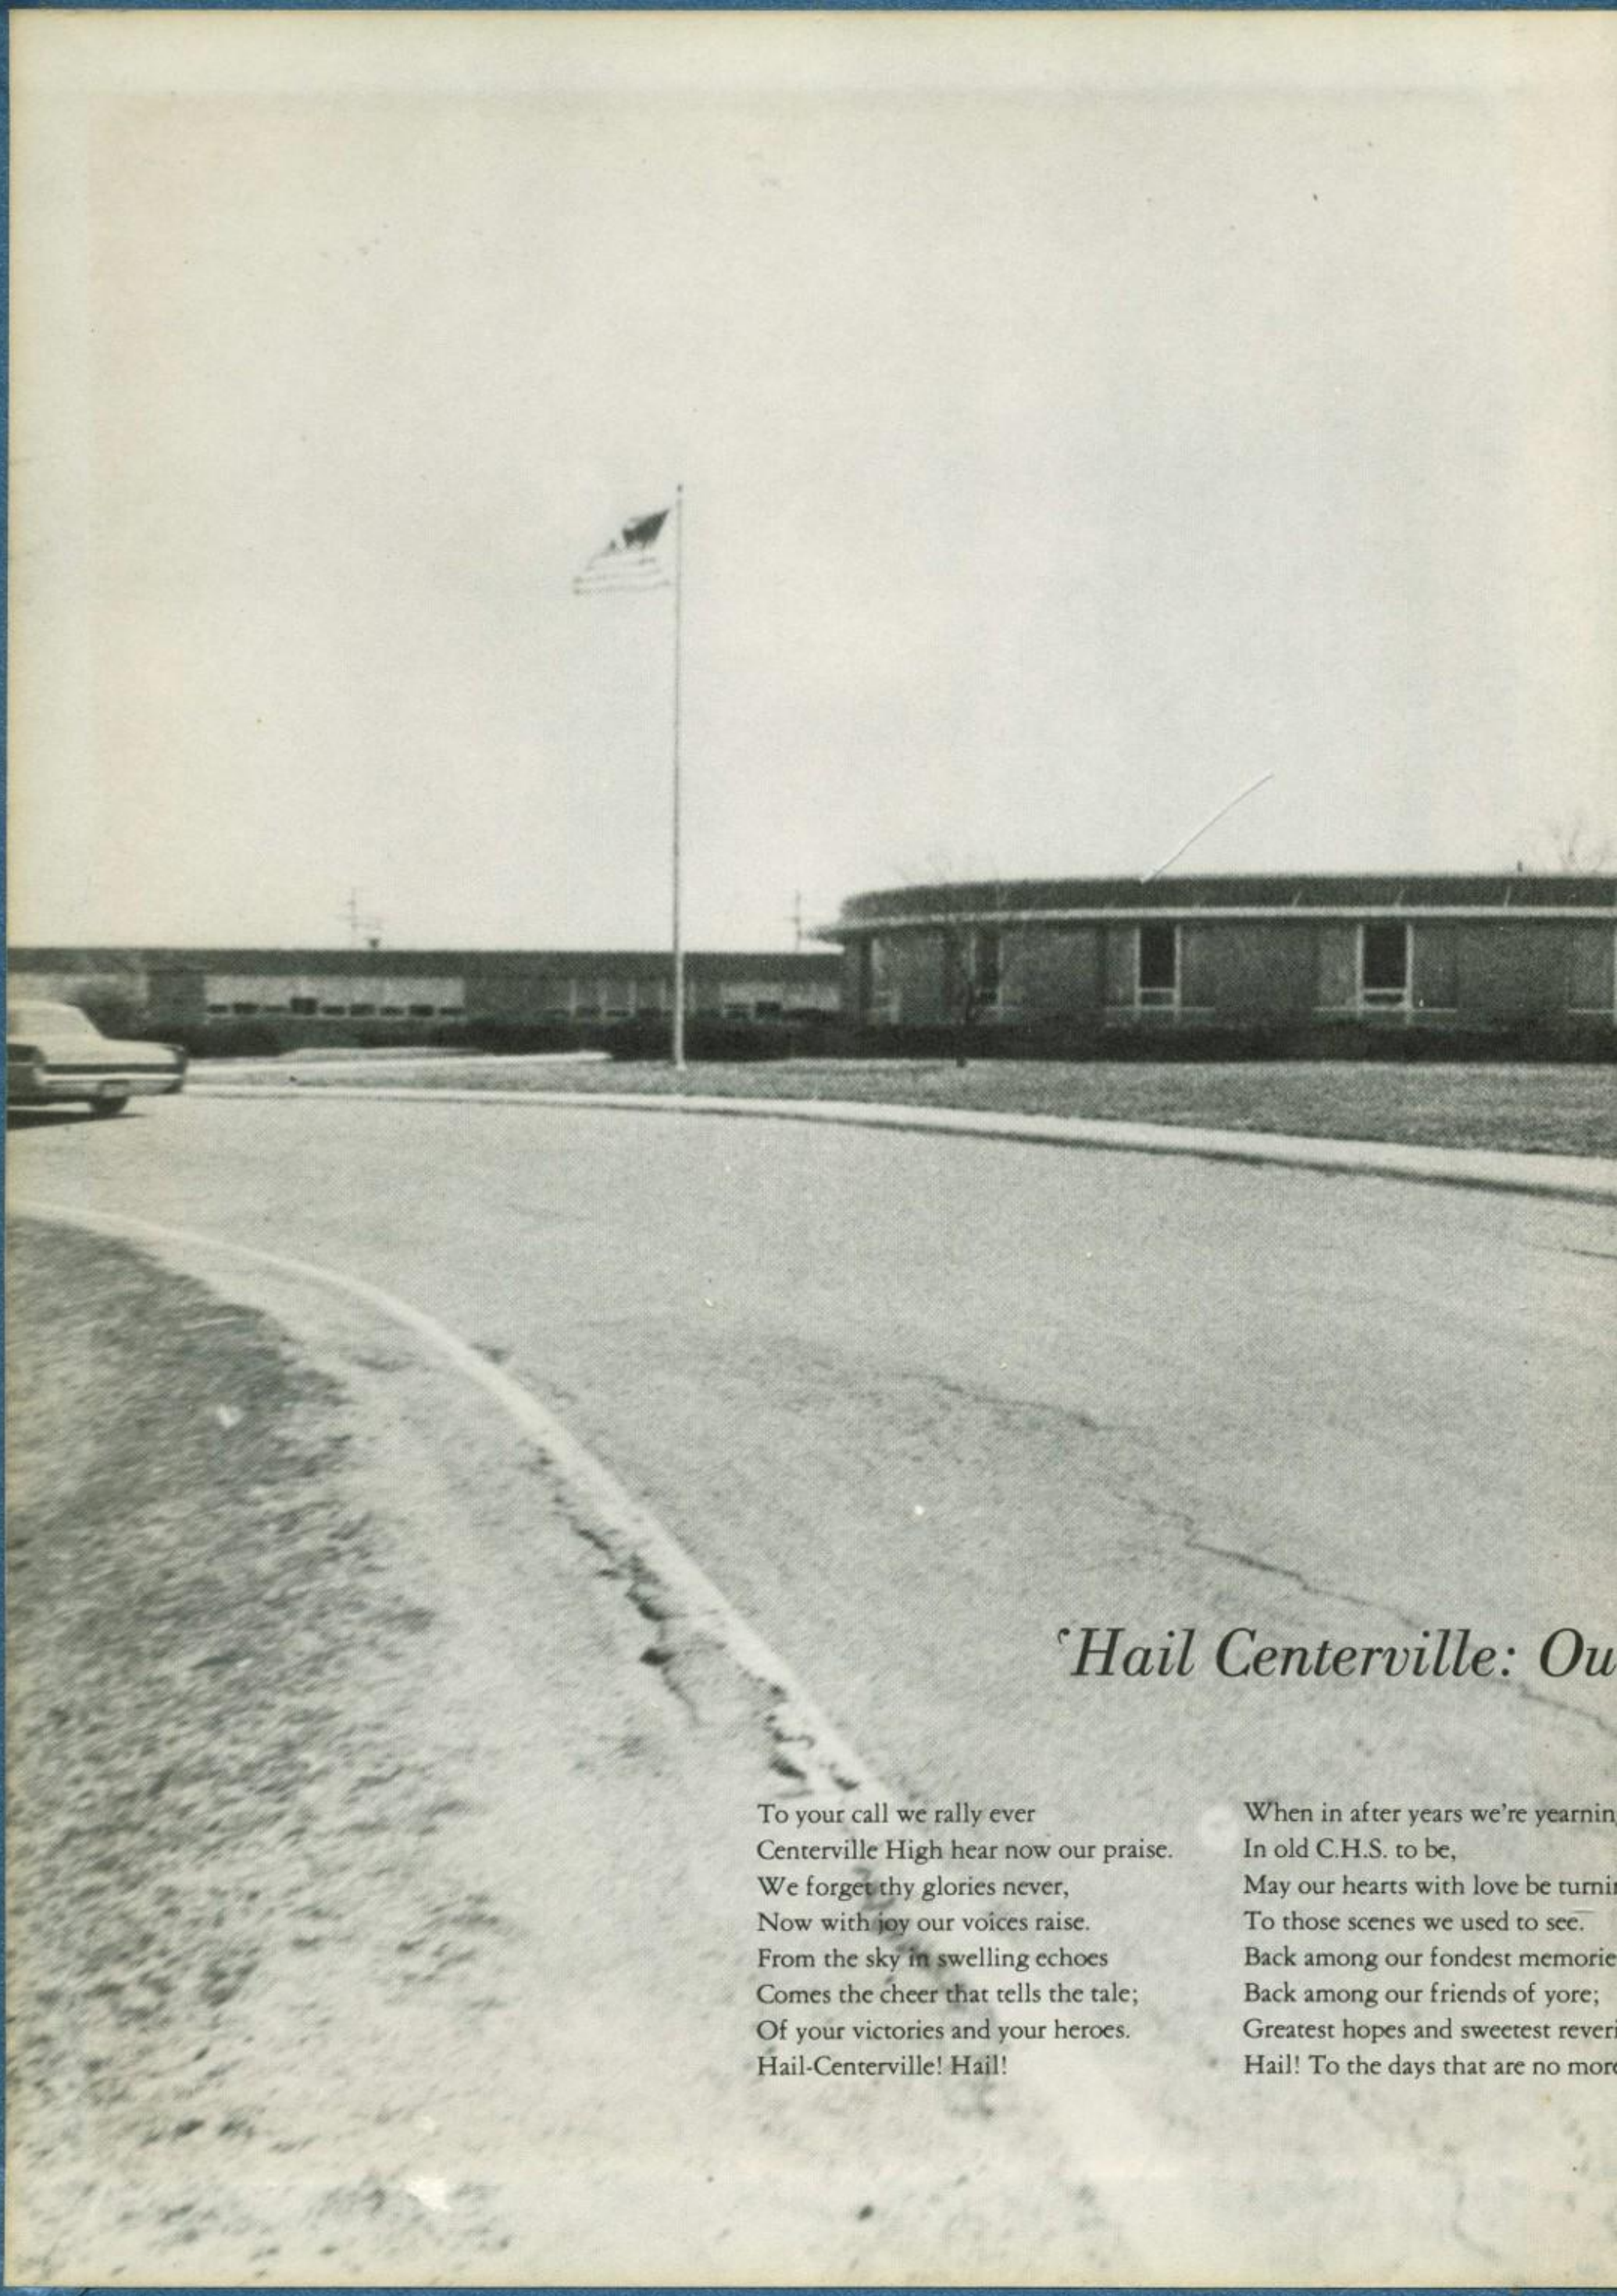
"Our Greatest Hit"



'Hail Centerville: Ou

To your call we rally ever
Centerville High hear now our praise.
We forget thy glories never,
Now with joy our voices raise.
From the sky in swelling echoes
Comes the cheer that tells the tale;
Of your victories and your heroes.
Hail-Centerville! Hail!

When in after years we're yearnin
In old C.H.S. to be,
May our hearts with love be turni
To those scenes we used to see.
Back among our fondest memorie
Back among our friends of yore;
Greatest hopes and sweetest reveri
Hail! To the days that are no mor

Favorite Hit

Hail! Hail! to Centerville.
All Hail to our own Blue and White.
Hail! Hail! to Centerville,
May she loyal be for the right.
Ever grateful ever true,
This our tribute to you still.
Of the days we've spent with you,
All Hail to Centerville.

The Winter of '77'

We survived to present

OUR GREATEST HIT

Sled riding, snowballs, ice-skating, and especially snowmen soon became the familiar scene as the worst snow in history engulfed Centerville in its frozen glory, on Sunday, January 9, 1977.

Thrilled at the thought of another vacation, many students later grew anxious for school to reopen after being closed for seven consecutive days.

Cancelled basketball games, wrestling and gymnastic meets highlighted the boredom that crept in to attack the restless as the second blanket of white fur covered the already frostbitten earth to set off another five-day vacation.

The snow and its events shall live on in the minds of those who saw the worst snow ever.

Looking back on it and wondering if it really happened, some might go as far as to say, "Centerville seemed like a 'storybook town'!"

Attending only nine out of 21 school days for the month of January set quite a record to add to "OUR GREATEST HIT" but so did the "Winter of '77."

Having captured a first place with his science project, Solar Utilization, in the Regional Science Fair, Senior Steve Thompson went to the National Science competition to compete amid other national top projects.

While back at C.H.S. everybody continued to keep the spirit by dressing to the appropriate day and by drowning fellow teachers during class competition in pep sessions during sectional week.

Still a different spirit arose as "Superman" produced a three-day sell-out.

Life sings in CHS halls once again

Becoming a part of daily living at CHS, watching plants grow, sleeping on the job, artistic talent and practicing to make it perfect all melted together to bring the halls alive.

Beginning in July, the walls of CHS began to breathe as rehearsing cheerleaders, bands and sport teams warmed up for "their" audition to make 1977 a record year for all.

Senior Don Wetzel busily uses up his free time leafing through the office plants.

With the arrival of school the tempo for the year was set as sports' records fell, championships were compiled, girls' basketball began, the "Winter of '77" hit, people changed and as a result of it all, we had a great year.

Bulldog Banner co-editor C. J. Ringwall lies exhausted after meeting deadline No. 15. Only two more to go.

Students return to the busy halls following a practice fire drill which is preparing them for the unexpected.

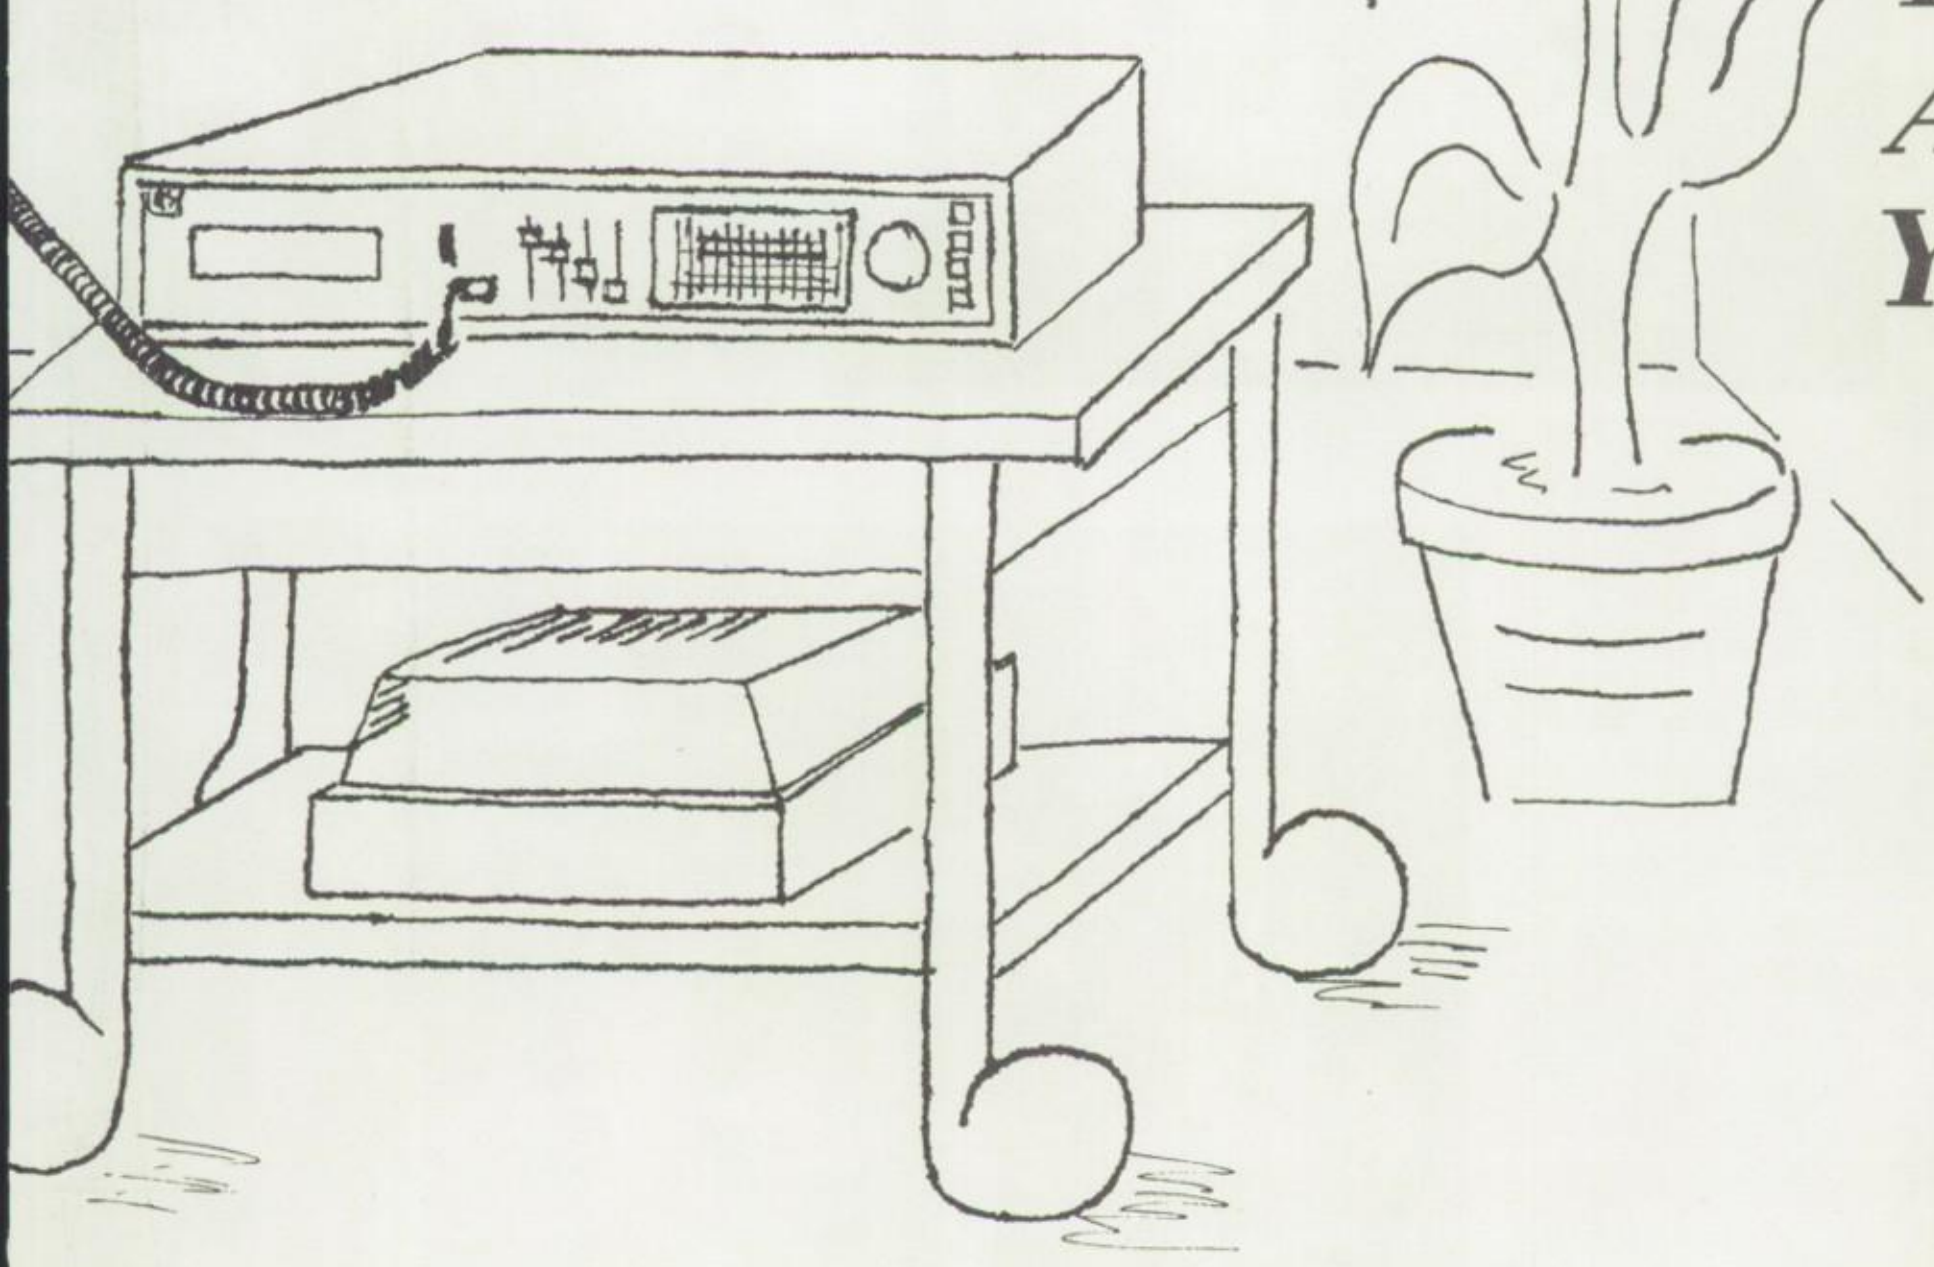
DAY BY DAY



Tami, juniors rule at Homecoming

Darkness, freezing temperatures, and an evening parade through the community were the characteristics that distinguished this Homecoming from the past five, which had been all day Saturday affairs.

Grand Marshalls Joel and Carrole Rhodes led the parade and presented float trophies before the game. The Junior Class captured both the Best Over-all and Best Workmanship trophies. The Best Theme trophy went to the Seniors.

During halftime ceremonies Tami Pope, escorted by Jim Soper, was crowned Homecoming Queen by Senior Class President Jeff Bridgford. Other queen candidates were Louanne Schlotterbeck, Valerie Foust, Michelle Hufnagel and Cheryl Petty.

Spending spare time

Spare time is never in abundance, even during the lazy days of summer. Swimming parties helped break the monotony of summer work sessions for some while cheerleaders at summer camp even had a minute or two of free time.

Registration also landmarked the true end of the summer when the students came back to school to schedule for their new classes.

In early October the Mortonians arrived after cover problems were solved and promptly a signing-in party was held.

During the winter months students supported their basketball team through victory and defeat, and throughout it all was the never-ending beat of the classroom humdrum.

Andy Price, Gus Duke reign

A cold winter evening set the mood for "Winter's Magic Moods," the SLIP-sponsored Christmas Dance held on December 18, just four days before the holiday vacation.

Andy Price and Gus Duke reigned as King and Queen over the affair while class princesses were Tami Ramsey, junior, Patty Hopper, sophomore, and Sandi Settles, freshman.

A holiday crowd of 250 people filled the high school gymnasium and danced to the music of "Malachi," a band from Indianapolis.

"The dance was really a school project as freshmen through seniors worked to make it a success," said Phil Stevenson, SLIP sponsor.

'Superman' plays to full houses

"It's a Bird, It's a Plane, It's Superman" played to packed houses on March 24, 25, and 26 and won the boisterous acclaim of all who watched. Sold out signs greeted late-comers all three nights.

Directed by Mrs. Debbie Boehmer and Mrs. Carol Brewer, the situation comedy featured C. J. Ringwall, Debby Richardson, Ed Christian, Tim Jacobs and Louanne Schlotterbeck in addition to a large supporting cast, an 18-piece orchestra, a chorus and some monumental behind-the-scene work by the Drama Company.

Three of four top honors go to CHS

CHS brought home three of the top four honors from the fourth annual Model Legislature, sponsored by the local Jaycees and held at Indiana University East. C. J. Ringwall, although nosed out by one vote for governor, was named the outstanding male legislator from the Senate while Todd Rhoda received the same honor from the House. Karen Whittaker was named the outstanding female legislator from the House. Of the 10 outstanding committee persons selected, six were from CHS.

"To simulate the legislative process" was adviser Phil Stevenson's reason for having the program.

Convos are few and far between

This year's convocations were few and far between. As a matter of fact, there was only one, not the fault of the student government, but because of man's susceptibility to viruses. Midway through the year a gentleman known as the Singing Sheriff was scheduled to entertain; however, he fell victim to the flu virus and was unable to appear. Later in the year, the monotonous school day was broken by a young environmedian named James Jackson. With his unique sense of humor, Jackson managed to turn the entire student body into another Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Pep sessions wouldn't have been as spirited without the sounds of the pep band.

Crowns go to Valarie Foust, Karl Elsrod

An evening to remember for all those that attended would certainly be this year's spring Prom, "Stairway to Heaven," held on Saturday, May 7.

Reigning as King and Queen of the dance were Karl Elsrod and Valarie Foust. Other candidates included Angela Cheeseman, Michelle Hufnagel, Gina Stainbrook, Louanne Schlotterbeck, Karen Whittaker, Dick Ferriell, Jim Soper, Donny Wetzel and Jerry Wright.

Couples arrived at the Knights of Columbus at 8 p.m. to be photographed. Then at 9 the band, "Three Penny Opra," began to play and kept the evening moving until midnight, at which time the comedy hit movie "Young Frankenstein" was shown.

15 seniors receive gold cords

Rob Coons, Angela Cheeseman, Chris Feeney, Mariann Irvin, Tim Jacobs, Janice Kolk, Kathy Morgan, Nan Moegerle, C. J. Ringwall, Kathy Sayne, Mark Schlotterbeck, Louanne Schlotterbeck, Carol Senefeld, Lisa Shiverdecker and Karen Whittaker were named to the Honors Section of the senior class during the May 27 Honors Chapel.

C. J. walked off with the most honors as he was named winner of the Free Enterprise Contest, the Crusader Award, was one of the five outstanding journalists and was named the outstanding male legislator in Model Legislature. Numerous other awards were given.

148 become alumni

One-hundred and forty-eight seniors received diplomas during the school's eighty-seventh commencement exercises held in a packed gymnasium on a hot Friday, May 27 evening. The crowd was termed the largest in CHS history.

Todd Lewis, student body president, and Jeff Bridgford, class president, gave the graduation addresses while Rev. Bob Coleman from the Centerville Methodist Church delivered the baccalaureate talk. Bridgford also presented Mr. Jim Howell and Mr. John Bastin with pen sets from the class.

Mr. Howell said the Class of '77 had been an excellent group.

Band, drill team net top honors

The Centurions under the direction of Marsha Powell and the band under the direction of Mr. Love worked closely together this year.

The 92 band members and the 14 Centurions shared the band room and many long hours of practicing.

These long hours really paid off for both of the groups. The Centurions took a third place in inspection and a first in overall at the Tri-State competition at Zionsville and the band placed fourth in tough class A competition.

Both groups attended summer camp.

Swing Choir receives standing ovation for Christmas performance

Although the Swing Choir's schedule wasn't as full as in years past, every performance was followed by a thunderous round of applause.

The Swing Choir's first performance was the "Feast of Carols" Christmas Concert. Their highlight number was "The Twelve Days of Christmas." Early in the year, the Swing Choir gave one of its best shows for the Lion's Club. The group was rewarded with its first standing ovation.

To top off the year, the Swing Choir participated in the Band and Chorus "Spring Fling."

Individual Resources offers variety

"We work mainly on Math and English, but I do help them with their other subjects," stated Mrs. Sally Lewis, now in her third year of working on Individual Resources at CHS.

"Also we concentrate on money problems, such as making change, applying for and keeping a job."

"I now teach 14 kids, from both the junior high and high schools. They are here anywhere from one to four periods each," she added.

"Problems other than at school are discussed because this may help them understand some of the things they don't," Mrs. Lewis concluded.

Consisting mostly of boys, Industrial Arts classes offer areas of study in drafting, woods, metals, auto mechanics, and industrial math. In bad need of expansion, the shop space is cramped, as classes are up to capacity.

Extending the opportunity for a wide variety of training in vocational skills, Industrial Arts gives excellent job preparation. Classes are taught in various levels.

Taught in three levels, drafting begins with basic mechanical drawing. Drawing machine parts is entailed in Drafting II. Drafting III involves architectural drawings of housing and includes plumbing and electricity.

Home-ec offers wide class choice

Mrs. Bonnie Johnston and Mrs. Barbara Gaddis guided the Home Economics Department through a year during which 10 different home-ec classes were offered. One of the advantages of being principal or secretary here is the "goodies" you get from the advanced foods class or the samples from the singles living class.

From time to time special activities were planned to provide some variety, including special instruction in hair styling, make-up application and cake baking.

Anita Thomas won the Betty Crocker Homemaker of America Award.

Green thumbs set seeds to blooming

The "green-thumb set" under the watchful eye of Mr. Mike Bertsch babied all kinds of seeds and tiny plants to plush and prosperous flowers and vegetables.

With a greenhouse as a lab, horticulture students ventured from the classroom into the living world and discovered some good dirt, a pinch of fertilizer, a dose of water and a pound of tender care worked miracles.

Those interested in animal raising, management of livestock and farming will find Animal Science I and II covers all these in detail.

P.E. classes tone muscles

Physical Education classes offer a feeling of accomplishment for everybody. Effort and improvement are as important as skill.

Offering a wide variety of sports, P.E. classes help students obtain greater skills in recreational activities, as well as develop sportsmanship. Among the sports offered are flag football, soccer, basketball, wrestling, gymnastics, and softball. Advanced students participate in bowling, golf, and archery.

Written skills and participation are stressed in girls' P.E. Folk dance, archery, gymnastics, and individual sports are among the sports offered.

These girls wait to see their team placing.

Fine Arts Week proves big success!

To work with the increasing art enrollment, rookie teacher Mr. Snowden was added to the staff and soon found himself busy.

Mr. Snowden and Mr. Harrison weren't the only ones busy as students in Art History created giant-sized replicas of bubble gum and candy wrappers out of paper maché.

Also worth mentioning is the bike-a-thon award resembling handlebars hastily whipped up and donated to the winner.

Unfortunately, due to the bad weather early in the year and failure to schedule a convo, there was no teacher of the year award; however, Fine Arts Week was still a success with a student art show and other activities.

Business students go to Manchester

Lori Canan puzzles over the adding machine during Business Calculations.

Surely one highlight of the business department this year would have to be the venture to Manchester College by Mrs. Wright and seven students to compete in a computer game competition. The team represented our school well by placing sixth.

As a whole, the business dept. remained generally stable and unchanging with a big enrollment in all classes. Individualized study was seen in use in many classes as students worked at their own rate.

Mrs. Wright, business teacher, commented, "I like teaching typing because I can see the students' progress and because these students will use typing skills all through their lives."

All people concerned are looking forward to new books next year for all business classes.

Vicki Johnson displays a great amount of concentration as she types.

Chris Wilson balances her "sheet" during Accounting.

Science students shine for CHS

This is the last year for individualized study in Biology because as Mrs. Cope puts it, "I think the students will accomplish more with a different program."

Steve Thompson represented the science department well this year with his solar energy project at the International Science Fair after winning in state competition. Jeff Philhower and Rob Burtzlaff also competed. These contestants were sponsored and assisted by Mr. Hall.

New textbooks oriented more around lab work were adopted in Earth Science, and the aroma of peppermint drifted around the chem room as students in chemistry and physics made candy.

Counselors counsel confused CHSers

Mr. Vanderbeck and Miss Crabtree, guidance counselors, were kept busy with duties ranging from scheduling and testing to tracking down wayward students.

Countless hours were spent with individual counseling, aptitude and achievement testing, identification of individual needs, informational service to both students and teachers, college information and attendance.

Aside from counseling Mr. Vanderbeck found time to coach football and teach health while Miss Crabtree coached girls' tennis and taught math.

Library = valuable research center

Over the last 16 years the library has increased in size to its current level of almost 8,500 volumes.

While some students seek the shelter of a conference room to escape the normal routine, most use the library's growing resources as a valuable research center.

"When a book or magazine or encyclopedia is 'ripped off' from the library, it hurts everyone, including the taxpayers because we're spending about $1,000 for magazines and from $5.95 to $65 for each new book and about $400 for a set of encyclopedias," Mrs. Corsi said.

Simulations aid teachers, adds fun

Listening to war-protest songs, declaring war on the world and touring the nation's capitol were but a few of the things happening in CHS Social Studies.

Playing games and simulations such as PANIC, which represents the 1920's and 30's with the crash of the stock market and legislature during that period of time, increased the amount of learning being done while having fun.

Several students toured the governmental offices in Washington which "Showed the students the government in action and that it is not just a paper government," commented Willus Jacobs, Current Problems and Geography teacher.

Veteran teachers combine forces

The math department is slowly but surely increasing its mathematical supplies.

Last year new books were purchased, and this year games and puzzles were bought to help sharpen one's sense of reasoning.

All veteran teachers, Mr. Schlotterbeck, Miss Werne, and Mr. Kramer, combined forces to teach math classes ranging from basic math to algebra to advanced math.

Although math is considered a difficult subject and is dreaded by many, there are numerous students who dive right in and tackle math with determination.

With pencil in hand, Brad Howell works on his assignment.

Mary Beth Feeney marks her place in her Geometry book with her finger.

Senorita Nedza fills shoes easily

It has to be hard to come into a teaching position vacated by a person before you and know right away how far the students are advanced and where to start. For some it would be impossible.

But first year teacher Miss Nezda filled the shoes easily and soon she got her classes organized and the sound of students speaking Spanish echoed through Room 26. On several occasions students borrowed the Home Ec. room to create Spanish delicacies.

Dipping their hands into wet paper mache to make piñatas made students remember how fun it was to play in the mud.

Down around Room 10 another foreign tongue was heard recognized as Miss Fields' French classes. They too were kept busy with discussions, a field trip and various activities.

English Dept. records good year

Among the accomplishments of the English Department was the production of "It's a Bird, It's a Plane, It's Superman," which captured wide acclaim. Following a two-year absence from CHS, Mrs. Debbie Boehmer returned to the English Dept. to help direct the play and to help create a bigger interest in speech and drama.

"Perspectives," a magazine published by the creating writing class, was distributed near the end of school as was "ETC," the first magazine ever published by the journalism classes.

Other English classes worked hard to further educate CHSers in their "native tongue" while the newspaper and yearbook staffs pushed to complete deadlines and to provide quality publications.

Mrs. Marla Franklin was added to the department also late in the year to replace Mrs. Brewer who resigned due to the sudden illness of her husband.

Jrs., Srs. find Connersville unique

Almost 25 CHSers made the 40-mile round trip daily to Connersville to attend the Area Vocational School as part of their academic work.

For those interested in appliance repair, beautician school, welding, office procedures, electronics and several other areas, the vocational school offers a unique opportunity not available in the normal curriculum.

Among those attending are John Oberle and Tim Jacobs, both interested in stage and theatre production. "Much of what we learned at Connersville was helpful in filming "Superman" and it will be invaluable training for our careers," Jacobs said.

Bulldogs capture TEC crown

Reaching new heights by winning the TEC championship and setting new school records, the Bulldogs ended their season with an 8-2 record and a perfect 6-0 mark in the conference.

Dressing 40 varsity players including 25 lettermen, the gridders highlighted the season with an exciting win over rival Winchester.

"Winning the TEC would have to be the climax for us," said Coach Charles Vanderbeck. "We had some real good games including a well-played offensive game with Union City."

Senior Jim Soper set two new records for CHS in rushing and scoring, ending the season with 98 points.

Added to their winning season, the Bulldogs dominated the all-conference team. Eight players, Jim Soper, Rodney Moyer, Gus Duke, Rick Greene, Gerald Millsaps, Ronnie Lang, Bill Moore and Jeff Bridgford were named to the squad.

Reserves post 7-0 season

Under the leadership of Coach Bill Richardson and with the help of a strong defensive unit, the Bulldog reserve football squad racked up a perfect 7-0 season.

Minus size but possessing a lot of desire, the squad only allowed 18 points total from those seven games, while the offense, led by quarterback Glade Montgomery, rolled up 136 total scores. Ed Lang gained 866 yards on the year to lead the team in rushing followed by Brett Roland.

Coach Richardson acknowledged the entire team and its efforts toward the undefeated season.

"The team, though consisting of small sized guys, made up for the size through determination to play football," commented Coach Richardson.

Racketeers net share of crown

Highlighted by a third place finish in the sectional, highest ever by a Centerville Tennis squad, Coach Gary Baker's racketeers ended their 76-77 campaign with a perfect 11-0 record and a share of the Conference crown.

Although finishing 6-0 in conference duals, the netters took second in the conference meet to Winchester and thus created the tie.

Both the first doubles squad, made up of Dave Lumpkin and Mark Hilligoss, and the second doubles team composed of Dean Mourfield and Gary Runyon, earned all T.E.C. honors, but Coach Baker was quick to say that it was an overall team effort.

The Reserve team, made up of Pat Lanman, Scott Jones, Greg Minor, Dave Smith, Ron Battista, Jeff Blansett, Brian Foust, Rob Burtzlaff and Jeff Philhower, finished 4-7.

Girl netters finish season 6-6

Losing 5 seniors to last year's graduation, coach Norma Crabtree's netters looked to this year's season with rebuilding in mind. With a season record of 6-6, the girls looked impressive at times but lost some close matches. Coach Crabtree said, "The girls were consistent throughout the year, and with only two seniors, we should be strong next season." The two seniors were Kristi Uhl and Karla Chasteen.

Five who ended their seasons with high records of 8-4 included Kris Dunn, Lori Plessinger, Kelly McKee, and the number one doubles team of Donna Foreman and Beryl Lewis.

Ending the season with tough Sectional competition, Lisa Senters made a fine showing by placing third.

Junior Varsity players consisted of Debbie Wetzel, Natalie Beach, Laura Everett, Karen Crowe, Tami Dauer, Lisa Hertel, and Linda Karn.

The Bulldog Harriers finished their season with a perfect 12-0 record in dual meets.

For the first time ever, the Bulldogs were TEC conference co-champs with Union City. Also for the first time, the harriers advanced to the regional. After a fine showing in the sectional as runner-up behind Richmond, the Bulldogs finished 15th in regional competition.

Also as an added highlight to their season, the harriers defeated Union City in an exciting tiebreaker, stopping the Indians' undefeated string at 55 meets.

Steve Darnell and Rusty Hawkins were named all-conference runners for CHS. Steve also broke the school 2½ mile record with 13:01.8.

The freshman cross-country team finished its season with a 4-1 record while the JV runners had a 3-1 mark.

Rookie coach sets spikers

Following a 10-5 season, Coach Cris Dunnington's volleyball squad battled its way to the sectional final game before being eliminated by host Connersville.

Taking the first game, the netters had a tough Spartan club backed to the wall before a Connersville rally in the final two games sealed defeat.

With Gretchen Stuck as M.V.P., the spikers were never out of a single game until the last point. Senior Captains Kim McKee and Dana Widau proved a strong asset to a team mainly made up of juniors.

The reserves, ending their season at 6-4, proved they could play also by winning their last three outings over Union City, Union County and Richmond. The reserves were led by sophomore Kelly McKee.

Three seniors, Tami Pope, Karen Whittaker, Andy Price, and two juniors, Tami Ramsey and Carol Perrin, served the year as the Bulldogs' varsity cheerleaders.

In an effort to raise spirit, the girls held various pep sessions and the traditional spirit week before the sectional.

Spending an active week at summer camp, the girls won the spirit award every night they were there. They also brought home several blue ribbons.

By participating in many money-making projects, the girls were able to purchase new uniforms.

"We were proud to be a part of such a great year of sports at CHS," commented captain Tami Pope.

Girls boost reserves' spirit

Melinda Allen

Juniors Mary Beth Feeney and Krista Fahien and sophomores Melinda Allen and Kathy Oberle, the reserve cheerleaders, devoted much of their year to boosting the spirit of the reserve basketball and football teams.

"We were proud to be part of the reserve football team's undefeated season and to represent the basketball team during its exciting year," said squad captain Kris Fahien.

Profits from candy sales and the selling of doughnuts and coffee enabled the girls to buy new cheerleading outfits. The squad also spent a week at cheerleader camp last summer.

All the cheerleaders commented on how much they enjoyed the year.

The freshman basketball team finished its season with a 1-9 record. "The team showed constant improvement throughout the year, and they played with desire and determination," commented Coach Gary Baker.

The netters' only win was an exciting 47-45 game with Northeastern. They suffered several narrow defeats including an overtime loss, 38-40 to Knightstown.

Rodney Mattix finished the year as top scorer with 91 points followed by Eddie Ash with 81. Mattix had a field goal percentage of .474. Shaun Egan led the team in rebounds averaging 15 per game.

Supporting the team were the frosh cheerleaders, Sandie Settles, Tammi Lake, Pam Lucas and Sharon Soper. The girls were also active in backing the football teams and helping the varsity cheerleaders throughout the season.

Coach Baker commented, "The young Bulldogs showed constant improvements, but their downfall was the lack of consistency."

Reserves conquer rival Richmond

The Centerville Reserve Baseball team coached by Richard Lee finished its 76-77 season with a somewhat disappointing 3-8 record. Highlighting the year was an action-packed game against rival Richmond. Scoring six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning, the reserves fought back from a 4-0 deficit to win 6-4.

Greg Minor led the team with a .483 batting average while Greg Snyder and George Shaw had exceptional seasons of their own. Minor also had a grand slam home run against Union County.

Coach Lee commented that errors hurt the team a great deal, but he feels that with hard work, next year's team can be better.

The CHS tracksters finished the year with a 5-4 mark in dual meets and highlighted their season by being crowned Jaycee-Relay champs at Hagerstown. Leading the team to a slim five-point win over Northeastern in this meet, Rusty Hawkins took two first place ribbons in the 880 and high jump events.

Finishing the season with a 3-3 mark in the TEC, the thinlies tied for third in the conference. Bringing home the only blue ribbon from the TEC meet was the mile relay team, Steve Mertz, Tim Fields, Don Pope and Mike Warren, with a time of 3:40.6.

Fields was undefeated in dual meets in his specialities, the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Losing only two senior lettermen, Rusty Hawkins and Mike Crowe, Coaches Romack and Stephen have high hopes for next season.

Baseball team wins sectional

Darren Dailey pitched the varsity baseball team to a 5-0 shutout win over Cambridge City to wrap up the Richmond Sectional on June 1. The final victory followed a 10-1 win over Hagerstown and an 11-4 mastering of Northeastern. Jeff Cox and Curt Gossett also pitched well in the sectional. The sectional crown shared the season's spotlight with a three-way tie for first in the TEC, a position Bill Richardson's crew earned by beating Lincoln the last conference game. Tom Carlson was named to the All-Conference team.

"Not a bad year since we were picked to finish about last in the TEC," said Coach Richardson. "Once the boys found out they could do it, they hustled and showed more desire than any team I've coached," he added.

Track MVP

Capping off a great year in sports at CHS, the mighty Bulldogs proudly claimed the TEC All-Sports trophy. The Bulldogs also won individual championship trophies in football and wrestling while claiming co-champ titles in golf and tennis with Winchester. The baseball team shared the honors with Union County and Hagerstown while the Cross Country team split the title with Union City.

Bringing home seven out of nine possible trophies was considered quite an accomplishment by all the coaches.

CHS totaled 223 3/4 points to claim the all-sports award followed by Winchester with 210. This is the first time since 1964 Centerville has been awarded this high honor.

Twenty-seven CHS athletes also won positions on various all-conference teams.

Spanish + French = Spench

Active Spanish and French students came together this year to form Spench Club, but being a young club they had a rough time pulling themselves into action. President Chris Feeney said, "Most of the year was spent making plans for next year when we hope to take another trip to Mexico."

Science Club is a twelve-member strong group with Joel Rhodes, Jim Kempton and Mark Scott acting as officers. Club members took an all-day trip to Chicago where they toured interesting museums, visited Addler Planetarium and saw Shedd Aquarium which is the largest aquarium in the world. Science Club is sponsored by Mr. Hall.

By installing rabbit burrows and bird houses in the nature lab, going to Martindale fishing area to trim around the trees they had planted three years ago and repairing the split rail fence at the court house, Ecology Club kept very busy. Officers were Mark Baldwin, John Hoodlebrink and Stacey Combs.

Groups spirited for the Bulldogs

Four groups of girls spent much of their free time going to athletic events cheering on the Bulldogs.

Harrier Helpers were new to the scene this year at CHS. These girls supported the Cross-Country team and a TEC championship.

The Grapplettes helped out at wrestling meets and also supported the grapplers to a TEC championship.

Blue Pride Backers are another large group of girls who cheered through two seasons, football and basketball. The Backers helped in pep sessions and made flash cards.

Bulldog Buddies decorated lockers and baked goodies for the guys.

FCA's have busy year

Sponsoring the traditional Donkey Basketball game, having Teacher Appreciation Day and giving invocations at ballgames kept the Boy's FCA and Girl's FCA busy.

Karl Elsrod and Louanne Schlotterbeck served as presidents of the two groups, and Mr. Fred Schlotterbeck was the sponsor.

Bible Club's biggest events were sponsoring the Thanksgiving convocation, having a bake sale and carolling.

Every Thursday during homeroom, Bible Club members from various denominations gave devotions, listened to tapes and watched films.

FHA consisted of ten members who were sponsored by Mrs. Bonnie Johnston and Mrs. Barbara Gaddis.

NHS adds twenty-five rookies

Twenty-three Juniors and two Seniors became members of the local chapter of the National Honor Society at the sixteenth annual induction ceremonies held on March 16.

Eligibility was based on scholarship, service, leadership, character, scholastic ranking with classmates, and an activity record filed by candidates.

NHS sold donuts before homeroom to raise money for this year's induction ceremony.

Ten new members were inducted to the International Thespian Society. Members must have earned 10 points in theatre work.

Helping is motive of groups

Checking out books, preventing thefts of magazines, describe some of the jobs of the Library helpers who receive no credit and work on a volunteer basis.

Office helpers, also volunteer with no credit, are in turn, the left hand of the office while they run errands, collect attendance and other odd jobs.

Though receiving full credit, Cadet Teachers receive experience of the first hand teacher.

Delivering films, tape recorders, finding magazines, are the daily tasks of the Audio Visual helpers, who also received no credit and who volunteered their work.

The Business Club held a successful school skate as a major project.

Banner staff prints first magazine

Under the guidance of co-editors Kim McKee and C. J. Ringwall, the Bulldog Banner made history this year by making each of its bi-weekly editions eight pages and by publishing the journalism department's first magazine, a 24-page publication called "ETC." The addition of Rock Focus and Underground pages increased interests.

Lisa Shiverdecker led the creation of the 192 page '77 Mortonian which uses a theme of "records." A more appropriate theme couldn't have been chosen as all kinds of records, from snow and cold to trophies and championships were notched in 1976-77.

Four groups have busy year

Under the leadership of Brad Howell, the FFA had a busy year sending delegates to the state convention, participating in National FFA week and also raising money for the March of Dimes.

Visiting art galleries in Chicago for a day would have to be a highlight for the Art Club which also sponsored Fine Arts Week and a student art show.

Varsity C had a full year putting up TEC champ pictures and sponsoring a dance to finance athletic awards.

Chess Club had a disappointing season losing both matches, one by 2 points because time ran out.

Leadership noted as seniors head major school activities

Leadership, unity and friendship characterized the 161-member Class of '77 which ended its official duties here with combined baccalaureate-commencement exercises on Friday, May 27.

To earn the teachers' lounge compliment, "It's a good class," the seniors had to do some things right, and through their leadership in athletics, the classroom, student government and publications, they set a positive example for underclassmen to follow. "We came to learn, to lead and to excell, and we did all three," said class president Jeff Bridgford.

Magazine sales pass

Winning Best Theme and Best-All-Around on their Homecoming Float, "Shazam those Eagles," would have to be a highlight for the class of '78.

Led by the executive council, the class took on the traditional task of selling magazines, but turned in an untraditional performance by selling a record amount $6,280 worth of periodicals. Tracey Warfield topped all in sales followed by Jim Kempton.

Contributing heavily to the varsity sports program and the cheer block, juniors also made their presence known by helping student government, publications and the Drama Club production of "Superman."

Tami Ramsey reigned as princess over the Christmas Dance, and for the second straight year, the Junior-Senior Prom was held at Knights of Columbus on Saturday, May 7 with the theme "Stairway to Heaven."

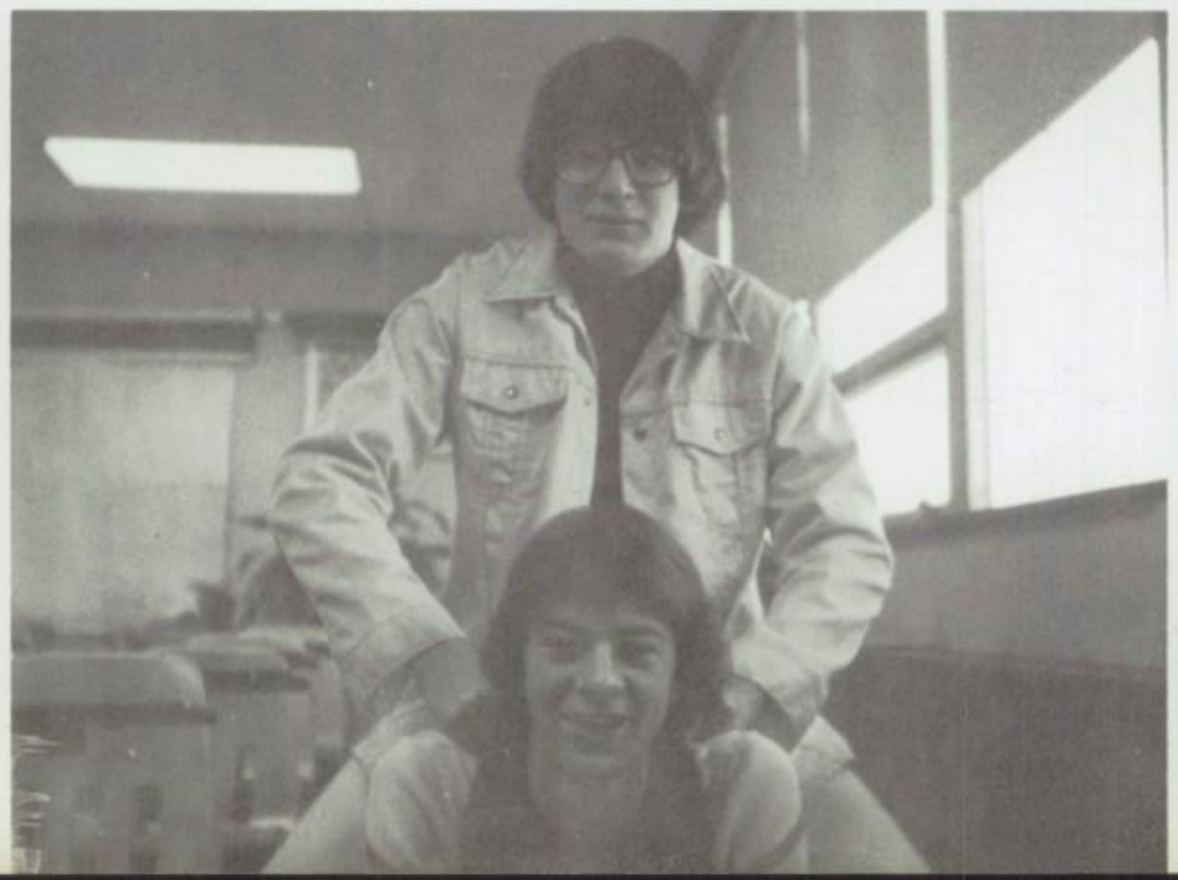
Sophs are known for their love of tough, competitive sports . . .. like leapfrog.



many reserve sports

Knowing the ropes of high school life, the class of '79 became involved students their second year at CHS.

Becoming officers in groups ranging from Y-teens to the Speech Club, sophs took part in varsity and reserve sports, helped take responsibilities with the student government during Homecoming and the Christmas Dance and participated in the Drama Club production of "Superman."

Sophomore gridders helped set an undefeated reserve season for the Bulldogs while the girls made up a third of the gymnastics team.

Although the sophomores didn't win a trophy for their Homecoming float "Eat 'em up," the "79"ers came out with a good float showing Sesame Street's cookie monster popping out of a cookie jar.

Five pretty girls from the 175-member class were nominated as princess candidates for the Christmas dance with Patty Hopper being named princess.

Freshmen prove to be fast learning class

After a few weeks of butterflies in the stomach, headaches and all-around nervousness, the freshman class eventually broke out of their shell of insecurity and became a full-fledged high school class.

The Frosh gave their all in building their Homecoming float, but were victims of inexperience and unorganization. They did, however, make a fine comeback by sponsoring a very successful dance.

The class of 1980 is the largest ever to attend Centerville High School with enrollment standing at 180 students.

Head sponsor Mr. Stephen commented, "This class is the most self-motivating that I have ever sponsored."

Editor's last look

We finally made it! A golden record, "Our Greatest Hit," featuring the tops in all departments.

We had a new staff lay out this year with ten returning from last year. The staff, mostly underclass, knew what had to be done and did it.

From time to time, things got rough and the old whip came out of the closet and got everyone back on track. But I can proudly say the Excedrin stayed in the bottle this year.

But now that the '77 edition is finished, I'd like to thank my staff, especially those who stayed and worked long and hard hours to meet their page deadlines and Roger Redmond for his helpful artistic talent in designing our division pages and cover.

To Mr. and Mrs. Joel Rhodes goes a big acknowledgment for the use of Crusader pictures and "Bulldog" the Bulldog whose picture appears on the title page.

I'd like to say thank-you to the C.H.S. teaching staff for all they have put up with during the 76-77 school year. You really kept your cool when students missed classes to sell ads or when we interrupted you for pictures or information. Thanks!

We had a new school photographer this year, Mr. Bill Wallace, who did an excellent job with the senior pictures and deserves a special thanks also.

Mr. Ken McCaslin is the guy behind the scene who backed me all the way when times got rough. He was there at all times when questions had to be answered, and he always had a joke to tell to cheer up the "blue" days, and his famous quote, "They'll fix it," kept everybody going and on their way to the next deadline. To Mr. McCaslin, a big thanks and good luck next year.

A final word of thanks to everyone who was around to add their two cents worth to make "Our Greatest Hit" worth a million.

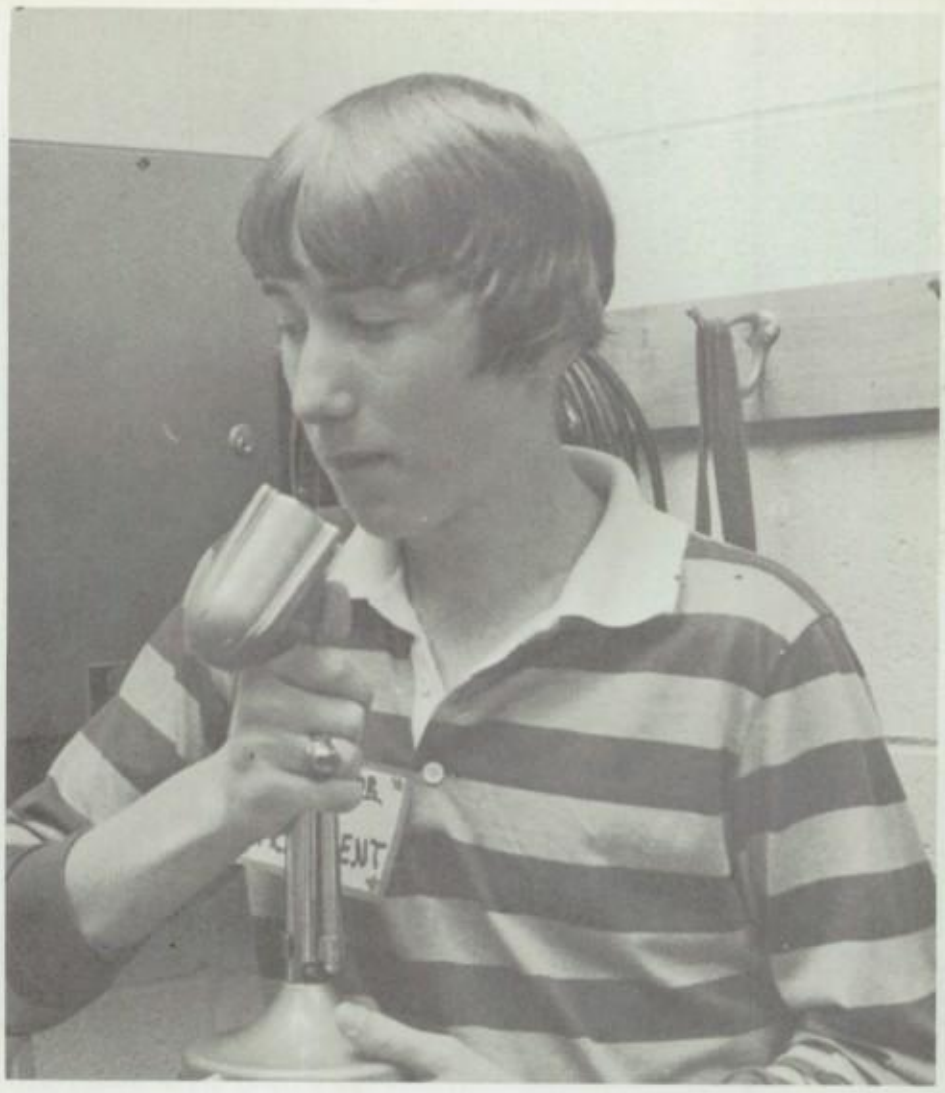
Senior Louanne Schlotterbeck displays the life of a senior in the required Econ class.



Relaying the outlooks for the coming year, soph. Pat Lanman, pushes campaign speeches during election week.

Activities last to very end

As the school pulled to a close, many activities including baseball, golf, next year's student body elections and the cleaning out of the greenhouse still tugged to the very end.

Senioritis struck as the final days grew near and those last hours seemed to never end. As for the underclass, summer was coming. They, also, counted the days.

Another week or so later, and the rookie drivers were turned loose to either drive the car or drive the teacher nuts.

But the year held untold memories. Championships and trophies, laughter and tears, hard work and especially parties that followed all helped to make this a record year.

Highlighting the day of an unknown kindergartener, junior Pat Markley hands a home grown plant to the some-day student of CHS.

Senior adds another state award

For the second straight year of attending Connersville Vocational School, senior Phil Snyder competed with 28 advanced students in the machinery field from 21 schools and brought home the shining awards of first place. The State Machinery Contest was held at Indiana State University on May 2.

As for the final dance of the year, the Prom made and brought back many happy times.

While enjoying the night of dancing, long-time, no-see friends gathered about the punch bowl to bring back lost memories and to joke a little.

As the night stood out as that "special date," the feeling of May 27 grew closer in the minds of all; the ending of another school for some and the beginning of a different life for the seniors.

Now alumni, the class of '77 lives on through the minds of today and the yet-to-come generations.

Last day turns to fantasy for frosh

Mrs. Jim Howell aids the kitchen a bit.

The last day of school for the underclassmen turned into a fantasy for the frosh as they thought it would never come while the day of the seniors is long gone.

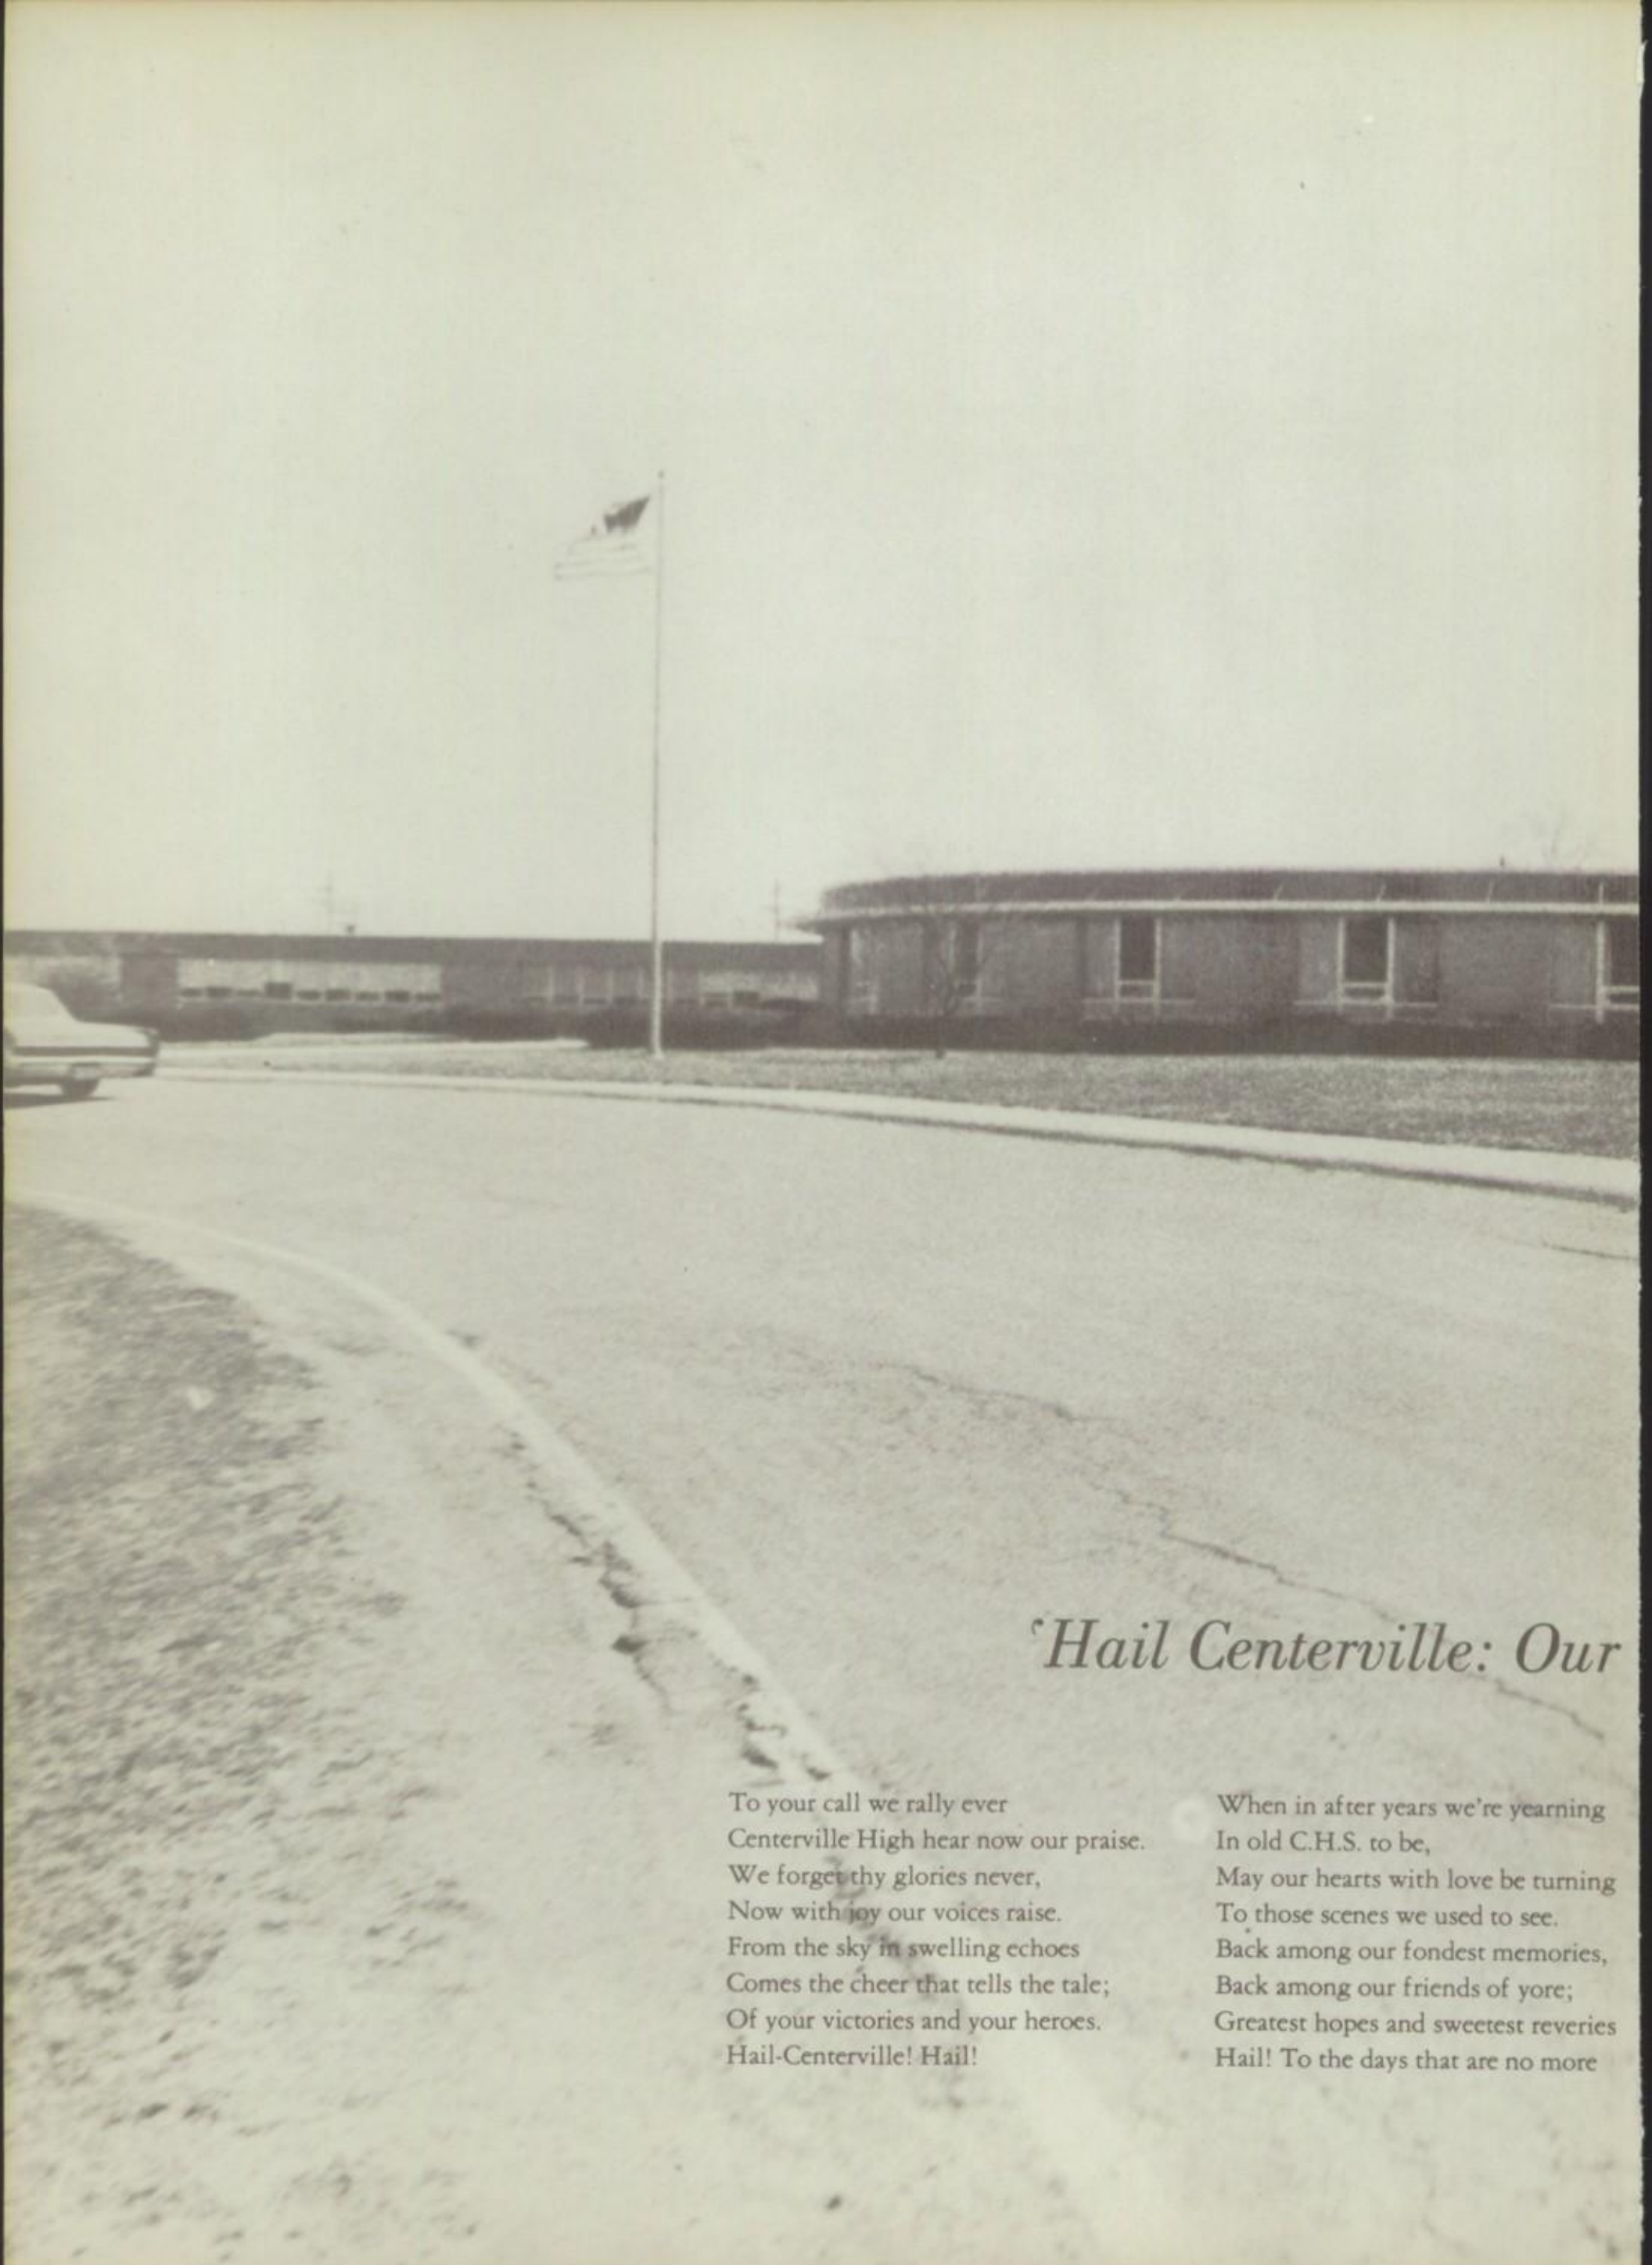
Sounds of tears and laughter and cries of victory still ring through the empty halls waiting for next year's events to bring them back alive.

Summer is here and each has gone his own way for another three months.

Some will go east and some will go west but each will remember that the year of 1977 was the best!

Some underclassmen enjoy the last few hours of the 1977 school year.

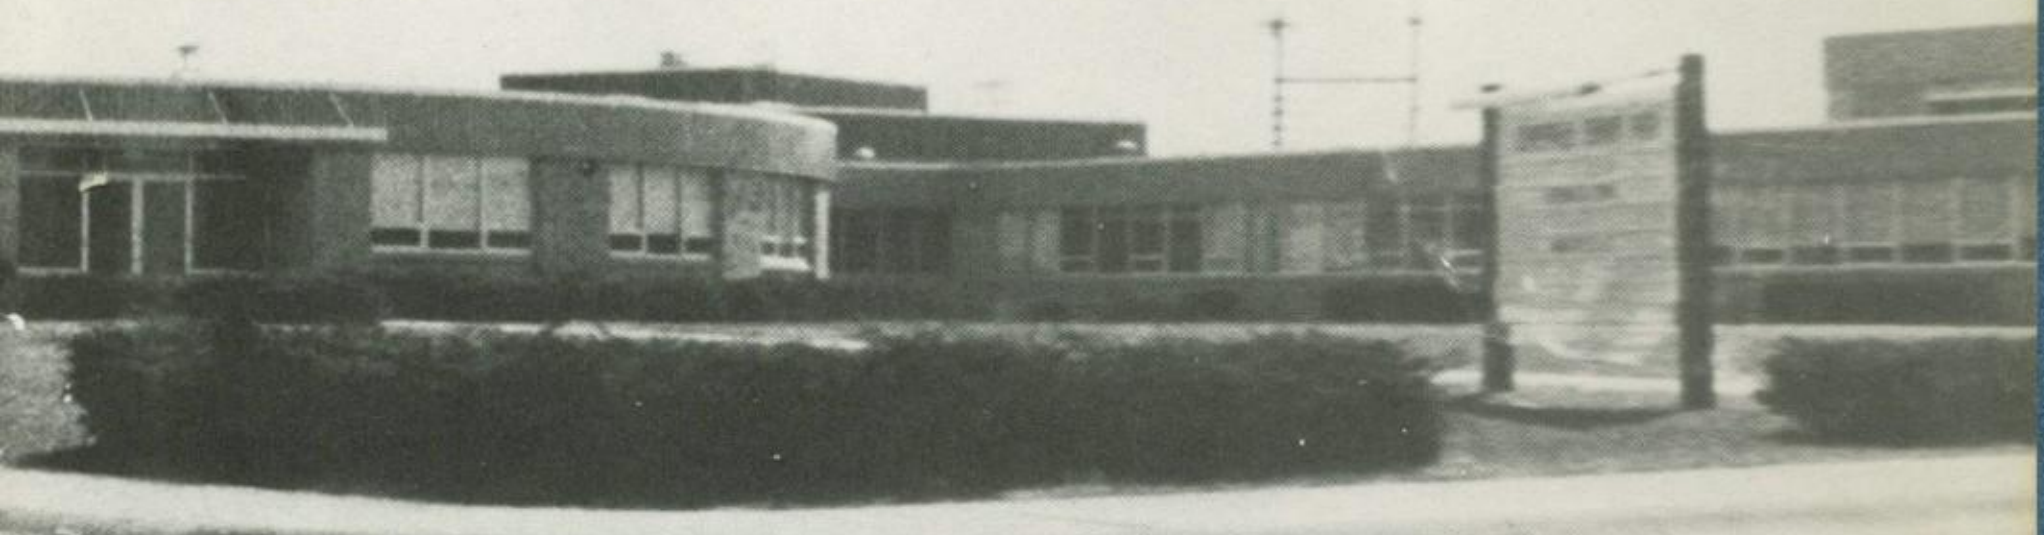
Senior Cheryl Riesen wipes away the twelve-year tears as she marches in to become an alumni.



'Hail Centerville: Our

To your call we rally ever
Centerville High hear now our praise.
We forget thy glories never,
Now with joy our voices raise.
From the sky in swelling echoes
Comes the cheer that tells the tale;
Of your victories and your heroes.
Hail-Centerville! Hail!

When in after years we're yearning
In old C.H.S. to be,
May our hearts with love be turning
To those scenes we used to see.
Back among our fondest memories,
Back among our friends of yore;
Greatest hopes and sweetest reveries
Hail! To the days that are no more



avorite Hit

! Hail! to Centerville.
Hail to our own Blue and White.
! Hail! to Centerville,
she loyal be for the right.
grateful ever true,
our tribute to you still.
he days we've spent with you,
Hail to Centerville.
